INDEX

TO THE

TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SIXTH VOLUME OF THE QUARTERLY REVIEW.

[Titles of Articles are printed in heavier type. The names of authors of articles are printed in italics.]

A.

Abbas I, his method of administering justice, 32.

Abbott, W., 'Commercial Theory and Practice,' extract from, 448.

Abercrombie, Lascelles, character of his blank verse, 370—defiance of metrical tradition, ib.—'Sale of St Thomas,' 371—'The End of the World,' ib.—'Peregrinus,' 372.

Acland, Rt Hon. A. H. D., 'The Patriotic Poetry of Wordsworth,' 128, 129.

Aristotle, his definition of the State, 182—view on war, 191—character of his logic, 193—morality, 194.

Asama-yama volcano, observations on the detonation, 219, 225.

Asquith, Rt Hon. H. H., M.P., his views against the coercion of Ulster, 246—result of his hasty change in the system of government in Ireland, 263-265—proposes to summon a Constituent Convention, 281.

Austria-Hungary, military operations on the Trentino, 230—in Volhynia, 240.

B.

Bailey, John, 'A New Life of Wordsworth,' 116.

Bajazet I, his method of administering justice, 32.

Balfour, Rt Hon. A. J., M.P., his introduction to 'Politik,' 177—criticism of Treitschke's doctrines ib.

Banking, English and German, in Relation to Trade and Industry, 532 — growth of the joint-stock system in England, ib.—local banks, 533—London the financial centre of the world, 534—deposit terms, 535—system of borrowing, ib. — Continental system, 536 — differences in the German Banking system, 537-541—result of the war in Germany, 541—in England, 542-544—diminution of resources, 544—demand for capital after the war, 545—institutions required to help foreign trade, 546—establishment of a 'Chartered British Trade Bank,' 547.

Barham, Canon, or 'Thomas Ingoldsby,' 550—friendship with Mrs. Hughes, 551—correspondence with her, 553—'My Cousin Nicholas,' 554.

Beatty, Admiral, on the German losses in the Battle of Jutland, 283, 285—charged with rashness, 287, 289—tactics in the Battle of the Bight and the Dogger Bank, 287—the Battle of Jutland, 288, 290—his manœuvre of 'crossing the T,' 290—vindication, 293.

Beaufort, J. M. de, 'A Voyage of Discovery in Northern Germany,' 75, 318.

Bellairs, Commander, 'The Battle of Jutland,' 283.

Bengal, reversal of the partition, 100–104.

Bille, Torben de, 'Politik,' translated by, 177.

Birrell, Rt Hon. A., M.P., character of his administration of Ireland, 256–261.

Blood, Col. W. P., 'The Course of the War on Land,' 228, 565.

Borden, Sir Robert, on Imperial policy, 275.

Botallo, L., his treatment of gunshot wounds, 464.

Bottomley, Gordon, 'King Lear's Wife,' 383.

British Foreign Policy, The Study of, 470—causes for the indifference and ignorance of the public, ib.—geographical position of England, 471—fundamental consistency of the policy, 472—permanent political and economic factors, 473—period from 1815–1914, 474–476—increased power of opinion, 475—influence of newspapers and the telegraph, 476—policy of Metternich and Bismarck, ib.—the British Government, 477—process of diffusing information, 478—provision of materials, 479—publication of documents, 479–482—regulations of the Foreign Office, 481—system of permits, 482—system in France, 483–485—Commission des Archives Diplomatiques, 483—neglect in the teaching of contemporary history in schools, 485—in the universities, 486.

British Trade and Manufactures, 433—Cooperation within each Industry, 435–438—The Marketing of the Goods, 438–440—Designs, Inventions and Discoveries, 440–445—Organisation, 445—Commercial Education, 446–449—Government support for trade, 449–451.

Brooke, Rupert, character of his poetry, 376–379.

Browning, Oscar, his preface to 'England and Napoleon in 1803,' 480.

Brunschwig, Hieronymo, 'Buch der Cirurgia,' 455 — treatment of wounds, ib.

Buckle, G. E., Life of Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, 508 et seq.

Burton, Sir Richard, on the future of Palestine, 426.

Bury, Prof. J. B., 'The Trojan War,' 1.

C.

'Cambridge Historical Series,' 487.

Carmichael, Lord, Governor of Bengal, his statement at the Legislative Council, 113.

'Catholic Anthology,' 384.

Cecil, Algernon, 'Disraeli; The Middle Phase,' 508.

Chadwick, Prof., 'The Heroic Age,' 17.

Chamberlain, Rt Hon. Austen, M.P., on the ignorance of the people on foreign politics, 478.

Cherbourg, naval review at, sound of the guns, 220–222, 227.

Chesterfield, Lord, on the ignorance of the people on foreign affairs, 470.

China, Empress-Dowager, her conversion to constitutionalism, 153,—directs the reform movement, 155.

Chinese Republic, Four Years of the, 152—development of political consciousness, ib.—Empress-Dowager's reform movement, 153–155—grant of a constitution, 155—Provincial Councils, ib.—abdication of the Manchu sovereign, 156—Yuan Shih-kai organiser of the provisional Republican Government, 157—Edicts of Abdication, ib.—creation of the National Assembly, 158—the members, 159—character of the Provisional Constitution, 159, 160, 163—tactics of the Kuomintangs, 161—measures of Pres. Yuan Shih-kai, 162—support of the army, 163—Constitution Compact, ib.—suspension of the National Assembly, 164—creation of the Council of State, ib.—movement for restoration of the monarchy, 165—opposition to the proposal, 165-168—international relationship, 169—Reorganisation Loan Agreement, ib.—declaration of neutrality, 170—demands of Japan, 171, 174—independence guaranteed by international agreements, 172—proposed reformation under Japan, 173—record of the past four years, 174.

Clowes, William, his treatment of gunshot wounds, 468—method of performing an amputation, ib.

Congress and the War, 196—unsympathetic feelings for the Allies, ib.—neutrality proclamation of President Wilson, 197, 202—hostile organisations against Germany, 197—number of German-Americans, 198—petition by the Organisation of Women for Strict Neutrality, 199, 201—proposed embargo on the export of munitions, 200—Boston petition, 203—agitation against the blockade curtailing the market for cotton, 204—Mr Walsh's Bill, 205—article from the 'Daily Trade Record,' 206—measures against travelling on belligerent ships, 208—the McLemore and Gore resolutions, 208-210, 212-215—Pres. Wilson's explanation of his policy, 210-212.

Copleston, Dr, Bishop of Llandaff, correspondence with Mrs Hughes, 555-558.

Crass, Herr, his views on the superiority of German powder, 82.

Crete, discoveries at, 2.

Cromer, Earl of, 'East and West,' 21.

Cunningham, Alan, 'Nithsdale Remains,' 558—correspondence with Mrs Hughes, 559—panegyric of Scott, ib.

Curtis, L., 'The Problem of the Commonwealth,' preface by, 266-269—use of the word 'Commonwealth,' 267 note et seq.

Curzon, Lord, his policy of the partition of Bengal, 100.

D.

'Daily Trade Record,' of New York, article in, 206.

Dane, Sir Richard, his work of reorganising the Salt Administration in China, 169.

Daudet, Alphonse, 'Le Nabob,' 32.

Davies, E. F., 'The Finances of Great Britain and Germany,' 542 note.

Davies, William, character of his poetry, 382.

Davis, H. W. C., 'The Political Thought of Heinrich von Treitschke,' 177.

Davison, Charles, 'The Sound of Big Guns,' 216.

Deakin, Hon. A., on Imperial policy, 278.

Dearle, N. B., 'Industrial Training,' 449.

Delhi, capital removed to, 100—the Durbar, 105-107—secluded position, 108.

Dicey, A. V., his Introduction to 'Wordsworth's Tract on the Convention of Cintra,' 132.

Dilke, Sir Charles, 'Present Position of European Politics,' extract from, 471.

Disraeli; The Middle Phase, 508—W. F. Monypenny and G. E. Buckle's Life, 508-511—condition of the Tory party in 1846..511—his relations with the two Stanleys, 512—task of party reconstruction, 513—views on Reciprocity, ib.—inexhaustible patience, 514—character of Lord Derby's policy, ib.—Disraeli's championship of the cause of peace, 515—relations with Palmerston, 516—with Gladstone, 517—Reform Bill of 1858, ib.—return to office in 1866..518—character of his policy, 518-521—attitude towards the Jews, 521—a mystic, 522—views on clergymen, 524—relations with Mrs B. Willyams, 525—charm of Hughenden Manor, 526—relations with Queen Victoria, 527—friendship with Metternich, 528—foreign policy, 529—characteristics, 531.

Dörpfeld, Dr, result of his excavations at Hissarlik, 2.

Drinkwater, John, character of his poetry, 379—'The Carver in Stone,' ib.

Dufferin and Ava, Marquis of, on the use of the telegraph, 476.

Dugdale, Blanche, 'Politik,' translated by, 177.

Dunning, Prof. W. A., on the British Empire, 487.

E.

East and West, 21—relations between, ib.—colour antipathy, 22—political institutions and social customs, ib.—instances of the exact opposite in trivial acts of life, 23–26—contrast between the mentality, 26—attraction towards the pure Oriental, 27—characteristics of Ismail Pasha, 29–31—belief in the 'evil eye,' 31—methods of administering justice, 32–34—cases of slavery, 34–36—qualities required for dealing with Easterns, 36—instances of the result of trifling actions, 37—crisis on the resignation of Cherif Pasha, 38.

Egypt and Palestine, 411—value of the Seuz Canal to the British Empire, 412—importance of the security of the Asiatic shore, 413—region of Palestine, 414. See Palestine.

Empire, The Organisation of the, 266—L. Curtis' 'Problem of the Commonwealth,' 267, 280—W. B. Worsfold's 'The Empire on the Anvil,' 268, 272–274—A. B. Keith's 'Imperial Unity and the Dominions,' 269–271—powers of a Governor, 269—of the Legislature, 270—proposed representative Constituent Convention, 272, 279–281—recognition of Imperial Unity, 272—suggestions for the future government of the British Empire, 273—scheme of a 'half-way house,' 273–275—Supreme Imperial Parliament, 276—new conditions created by the war, 278—character of the Federal system, 279—difficulties of framing an Imperial Constitution, 280—date of the proposed Convention, 281.

Everdingen, Dr E. van, on the sound of gun-firing, 225 note.

F.

Fayle, C. Ernest, 'Industrial Reconstruction,' 295.

Ferri, Alfonso, 'De sclopetorum sive archibusorum vulneribus,' 458—treatment of gunshot wounds, 450.

Fess, Mr, his views on embargo on the export of munitions, 207.

Finot, Jean, 'Le Partage de la Turquie,' extract from, 419 note.

Firth, C. H., 'The Study of British Foreign Policy,' 470.

Fischer, E., 'Die Kulturarbeit des Deutschtums in Rumänien,' extract from, 406, 408.

Fisher, Rt Hon. Andrew, on Imperial policy, 275.

Flecker, James Elroy, character of his poetry, 376.

Foreign Office, system of permits, 482.

France, military operations on the Western front, 236–238—system of tactics, 237 note—battle of the Somme, 243—influence in Rumania, 388—in Palestine, 417–419—Foreign Office, system of permits, 482—Commission des Archives Diplomatiques, 483–485.

Fujiwara, S., 'On the abnormal propagation of sound wave in the atmosphere,' 225.

G.

Gale, Thomas, his treatment of gunshot wounds, 467.

Gardner, Mr, on the embargo on the export of munitions, 200.

Garton Foundation, Memorandum on the Industrial Situation after the War, 295—constructive measures, 304.

George V, King, his coronation at the Delhi Durbar, 106.

George, Rt Hon. D. L., M.P., his scheme for the administration of Ireland, 262.

German Penetration in Rumania, 387—policy, 390—construction of railways, 392—financial assistance, 394-398—number of Banks, 397—control of the market, 398—value of imports, 399—establishment of industries, 400—the oil industry, 401-404—shipping, 404—work of diplomatists, 405—failure to establish agricultural colonies, 405 note —schools, 406—relations with the Rumanians, 408 — founds the 'Junimea,' 409.

Germany, A Voyage of Discovery in Northern, Part I, 75—the Admiralty, 75-77—Coast Defences System, 77-84—batteries and forts, 79—ordnance, 80—the 'Gruson plate,' ib.—advantages of coast batteries over ships, 81—comparison between a Krupp and Woolwich gun, 82—superiority of the German powder, ib.—efficiency of a naval gunner, 83—Heligoland, 84-88—colour-scheme, 85—value, 86—fortifications, 87—result of an air attack, 88—Protection of the Kiel Canal, 88-91—formalities on entering, 89—From Emden to Wilhelmshaven, 91-98—method of searching ships, 92—arrival at Wilhelmshaven, ib.—conversation at the officers' mess, 93—invasion of England by aeroplanes, ib.—division of Europe, 94—Capt.-Lieut. Hersing, 96—survivor of the 'Mainz,' 97—Commander of the U 5, ib.—Part II, 318—Wilhelmshaven, 318-320—harbours and warehouses, 318—three entrances, 319—locks and Ammunition Magazines, ib.—Wilhelmshaven to Cuxhaven, 320-325—process of examination, 321-323—Cuxhaven to Kiel, The Canal, 325-332—manœuvres of the fleet, 326, 328-330, 336-338—dimensions of the Kiel Canal, 328—cost of building, ib.—turning basins, 330—journey through the Canal, 330-232—Kiel Harbour, 332—the battleships, 333—derivation of the name, 334—inspection of the fleet, ib.—missing ships, 335—anchorage of ships, ib.—training of sailors, 338—'Sham Dreadnoughts' of the British Navy, 339—views of Admiral von Koester, 341.

Germany, achievement of unity through Power, 189—political creed, 190—military operations on the Western front, 236-239, 243—methodical system of attack, 236—campaign against Russia, 240-243—loss of ships in the Battle of Jutland, 283—tactics, 291—policy in Palestine, 414-417—result of the war on trade, 433—organisation of factories, 445—banking system, 537—free lending methods, 538—growth of foreign trade, 539—system of trade enquiry and espionage, 540—result of the war, 541—loan methods, ib.—unsound basis, 542.

Gersdorff, Hans von, 'Feldtbuch der Wundt-Artzney,' 456—treatment of gunshot wounds, ib.

Gibson, W. W., character of his blank verse, 370—'The Hare,' 381.

Gore, T. P., his Bills to prevent travelling on belligerent ships, 208-210, 212.

Great Britain, policy in Rumania 392—construction of a railway, 394—Bank of Roumania, 397—torpidity of traders, 398—value of the imports, 399—indifference to the oil industry, 402—control of Egypt and the Suez Canal, 411, 428—commercial interests in Palestine, 419—Anglo-Palestine Company, 421—sympathy with the Jews, 427.

Gunshot Wounds, The Early Treatment of, 452—use of cannon, ib.—invention of hand-guns, 453—earliest mention in literature, 454—H. Brunschwig's treatment, 455—method of H. von Gersdorff, 456—G. de Vigo, 457—A. Ferri, 458—Paracelsus, 459—A. Vesale, 460—A. Paré, ib.—his opposition to the use of boiling oil, 461—reform of the ligature of vessels, 462—treatment of B. Maggi, 464—G. F. Rota and L. Botallo, ib.—L. Joubert, 465—F. Wirtz, 466—T. Gale, 467—W. Clowes, ib.

Guns, The Sound of Big, 216—difficulty of taking observations, ib.—case of the naval review at Spithead, 217—funeral of Queen Victoria, 218—anomalies in the transmission of sound by the wind, 219—Asama-yama volcano, ib.—naval review at Cherbourg, 220-222

—wind an important factor, 222—variations in the velocity, 223-225—in the temperature, 225—engagement in the North Sea, 226—pheasants affected by vibrations, ib.

H.

Hall, A. D., 'Agriculture after the War,' extract from, 145.

Hall, Major John, 'England and the Orleans Monarchy,' 481.

Hanotaux, G., 'La Guerre des Balkans et l'Europe,' extract from, 391.

Hardinge, Lord, India under, 99—character of his administration, 99—bomb outrage on, 107—death of his wife, ib.—personal popularity, 113. See India.

Harper, Prof. G. M., 'Life of Wordsworth,' 116—criticisms on his style, 117—blunders, 119—natural bent of his mind, ib. See Wordsworth.

Heligoland, result of the cession to Germany, 84—colour-scheme, 85—value, 86—fortifications, 87.

Hersing, Capt.-Lieut., number of ships sunk by, 96—views on British Destroyers, ib.

Hichens, Canon, on British rule in Palestine, 431 note.

Hitchcock, Senator, on an embargo on the export of munitions, 202.

Hodgson, Ralph, character of his poetry, 382.

Horsnaill, W. O., 'British Trade and Manufactures,' 433.

Hughenden Manor, 520.

Hughes, Mrs, and Her Circle, 548—birth, ib.—gift of singing, 549—introduction to Sir W. Scott, ib.—characteristics of her husband, 550—her friendship with Canon Barham, 551—love of anecdote, 552—gifts of dainties for the table, ib.—contributions to the Legends, 553—visits to London, 554, 557—grandsons, ib.—correspondence with Sir W. Scott, 555—with Dr Copleston, 555-557—with Alan Cunningham, 558-560—Last Recollections of Sir W. Scott, 562—at Abbotsford, 563—leaves Uffington for Kingston Lisle, 564.

Hyamson, Albert M., 'Egypt and Palestine,' 411—'Palestine: The Rebirth of an Ancient People,' 426 note.

I.

Iliad, the, basis of the theme, 4.

Indian Agriculture, The Future of, 343—characteristics of the conditions, 344—of the Indian peasant, 345, 348—changes in the course of agriculture, 345—state-irrigation works, 346—question of land-tenure, ib.—fiscal and humanitarian impulses, 347—formation of agricultural departments, 348—report of the Famine Commission of 1901..349—constructive policy, 350—Irrigation Departments, 351—Co-operative movement, 352—Civil Veterinary, 353—cattle-supply, 354—work of the Agricultural Departments, 355—process of finding the right crop, 355-357—plant sanitation, 357—defective methods of manufacture, ib.—supply of water, 358—implements and machinery, ib.—manures, 359—annual expenditure, 360—increase in the value of products, ib.—change in the attitude of the peasants, 361—problem of education, 362—development of a system of estate management, ib.—enclosure-policy, 363—result of morcellement, 364.

India under Lord Hardinge, 99—transference of the capital to Delhi, 100—reversal of the partition of Bengal, 100-104—reasons for the change to Delhi, 104—objections to Calcutta, 105—the Delhi Durbar, 105-107—reasons for the suspension of criticism on the measures, 107—character of the despatch of Aug. 25, 1911, ib.—secluded position of Delhi, 108—tendencies of the debates of the Council, 109—appointment of Royal Commissions, 110—military record of the Government, 111—spirit of the native regiments, 112—popularity of Lord Hardinge, 113—number of conspiracies, mutinies and crimes, ib.—statement of Lord Carmichael, 114.

Industrial Reconstruction, 295—the Garton Foundation Memorandum, ib. — ante-bellum problems, 296 — result of the war, 297, 302, 316—conditions of Industry, 297—emergency problem of the return to peace conditions, 298—employment of labour, 299—standard of wages, 300—restoration of the Trade Union safeguards, 301 — specific measures, 302 — diminution of the national income, 303—relations between employers and labour, 304, 309-313 — agricultural development and markets, 305—raising the general level of industrial efficiency, ib.—result of the sectional spirit on the standard of life, 306—education, ib.—method of vocational training, 307—scientific research, 308—opposition to the use of labour-saving machinery, 308-310—Trade Unions and Associations of Employers, 310—need for active cooperation, 311-313, 316—method of Joint Committees, 314—Joint Boards, ib.—Industrial Councils, 315.

Ingoldsby, Thomas, 550. See Barham.

Irish Rebellion, The, 244—views of the Irish in America on the war, 245—influence of Major M'Bride, ib.—the 'Sinn Fein' Society, 246—patriotism of the Ulster Volunteers, ib.—the Nationalist Army, 247—Mr Redmond's speeches, 248—views of the advanced section of the Nationalists, 249-253—anti-recruiting agitation, 250 — case of F. Sheehy Skeffington, 251—opposition to conscription, 252—number of recruits, ib. — policy of the Government, 253, 258—preparations for a rising, 254—character of Mr Birrell's administration, 256, 258—condition of anarchy, 256 — resemblance between all the Rebellions, 257—result of the evidence before the Commission, 258-261—charges against the Government, 259—the guilt of Mr Birrell, 259-261—consequences of the rebellion, 260—present condition of Ireland, 261—scheme of exclusion, 262—evils of changing the system of government, 262-265.

Ismail Pasha, Khedive of Egypt, his characteristics, 29-31.

Italy, military operations against Austria, 239.

J.

James, Henry, 60—characteristics of his art, ib.—revision of his works, 61—gift of distinguishing the 'finer grain,' 62—characters in his novels, 63-65, 67-69—power of discrimination, 65—'the brooding analyst,' 66—under the spell of England, ib. — 'The Spoils of Poynton,' 67—'The Wings of the Dove,' and 'The Golden Bowl,' 67, 70—'The Awkward Age,' 68, 69—'What Maisie knew,' 68—manner of telling a story, 69—structure of his novels, 70—'The Ambassadors,' 70-72—feeling for America, 73.

Japan, grant of a Constitution, 154—ultimatum to Germany, 170—seizure of Kiaochou, 171—demands presented to China, 171, 174 — position strengthened, 172—proposed reformation of China, 173.

Jebb, Richard, 'Studies in Colonial Nationalism,' 276.

Jellicoe, Admiral, his telegraphic report on the Battle of Jutland, 284 — despatch vindicating Sir D. Beatty, 293.

Jews, the, in Palestine, 421, See Palestine.

Johns, Orrick, character of his poetry, 385.

Johnson, Lionel, on the aim of the new poetry, 367.

Joubert, L., his treatment of gunshot wounds, 465.

Jutland, The Battle of, 283—losses of the Germans, ib.—report of Admiral Jellicoe, 284—publication of fragmentary accounts, 286 — Admiral Beatty's action in the Battle of the Bight, 287 — the Dogger Bank, ib.—the Battle of Jutland, 288—charge of rashness against, ib. — tactics, 289-291 — manœuvre of 'crossing the T,' 290—tactics of the Germans, 291—superiority of the British personnel, ib. — the weather blamed, 292—Postscript, 293 — Adm. Jellicoe's despatch vindicating Sir D. Beatty, ib.

K.

Keith, Prof. Arthur B., 'Imperial Unity and the Dominions,' 269-271.

Kiel Canal, 88—formalities on entering, 89—dimensions, 327—cost of building, 328—turning basins, 330—journey through the Canal, 330-332—Harbour, 332—derivation of the name, 334.

Kitchener, Lord, on the surrender of Kut, 232.

Knight, Prof., Biography of Wordsworth, 116, 121.

Koester, Admiral von, views on the inactivity of the British Navy, 341.

Krupp gun, compared with a Woolwich, 82.

Kut, surrender of, 231-235.

L.

Labour-saving machinery, opposition to the introduction, 309.

Land, Soldiers and Sailors on the, 135—report of the Committee on Land Settlement, ib.—serious questions involved in the creation of small-holding colonies, 136—social advantages, 138—economic and agricultural disadvantages, 139—limitations of small-holders, 140-142—sale of garden produce, 141—advantages of large holdings, ib.—system of co-operation, 142-145—instruction of members, 144—views of A. D. Hall, 145—reclamation of the land, 146—competition of foreign producers, 147-150—policy of the Railway Companies, 148-150—capital and credit, 150.

Lansing, Mr, on the principles of International Law, 200.

Lawrence, D. H., character of his poetry, 381.

Leaf, Walter, 'Troy, a Study in Homeric Geography,' 4 et seq. 'Homer and History,' 13.

Legouis, Emile, 'Jeunesse de Wordsworth,' 116.

Lewes, Sir G. C., on the difference between European and Oriental customs, 22.

List, Friedrich, 'Das Nationale System der politischen Oekonomie,' extract from, 390.

Livy, his influence on Lucan, 42-45—poetical character of his prose, 43.

Lodge, Mr, on the violation of American rights in trade, 204.

London, the financial centre of the world, 534.

Lubbock, Percy, 'Henry James,' 60.

Lucan, his epic the 'Civil War,' 42—influence of Livy, 42-45.

M.

M., 'The Political Philosophy of Treitschke,' 176.

Machiavelli, his view that the essence of the State is Power, 183-185.

MacKenna, J., 'Agriculture in India,' 355.

Maggi, B., his treatment of gunshot wounds, 464.

Mare, Walter De la, character of his poetry, 372.

Masefield, John, 'The Tragedy of Pompey the Great,' 40—character of his poetry, 382.

M'Bride, Major, his views against entering the British army, 245—hatred of England, 250.

McLemore, Mr, his views on upholding American rights, 208-210, 213.

Miller, William, 'The Mediæval Serbian Empire,' 488.

Mitrany, D., 'German Penetration in Rumania,' 387.

Moltke, General von, 'Briefe über Zustände und Begebenheiten in der Türkei,' extract from, 389.

Monypenny, W. F., 'Life of Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield,' 508 et seq.

Moore, Sturge, 'Sicilian Idyll,' 374.

Moreland, W. H., 'The Future of Indian Agriculture,' 343.

N.

Navy, British, 'Sham Dreadnoughts,' 339—supposed inactivity, 341.

Nawratzki, Curt, 'Die Jüdische Kolonisation Palästinas,' 426 note.

Neigebaur, J. F., 'Beschreibung der Moldau und der Walachei,' 393 note.

Nixon, General, his relations with General Townshend, 235.

O.

Oliphant, Laurence, 'The Land of Gilead,' extract from, 429.

Organisation of the Empire, The, 266. See Empire.

P.

Paget, Stephen, 'Ambroise Paré and his Times,' 460.

Palestine, 411—importance, 414—policy of Germany, 414–417—Templist colonies, 415, 416—influence of France, 417–419—British commercial interests, 419—Banks, 420—Anglo-Palestine Company, 421—position of the Jews, ib.—language, 422—the old class, ib.—the new class, 423—character of the pioneers, 424—acquisition of land, ib.—value of the new Jewish settlements, 425—educational system, 426—sympathy of Great Britain, 427—railway construction, 428—position, 429—wish of the Mohammedans to be under British protection, 430—the Jews, ib.—the Christians, 431—the Holy Places, ib.

Paracelsus, 'Grosse Wundartzney,' 459.

Paré, Ambroise, his characteristics, 460—skill and gentleness, 461—opposition to the treatment of wounds with boiling oil, ib.—reform in the method of the ligature of vessels, 462.

Parkes, Sir Henry, his system of legislature, 274.

Pheasants, affected by the sound of gun-firing, 226—by earthquakes, ib.

Pichon, René, 'Les Sources de Lucain,' 42.

Poetry, The New, 365—conceptions of the art, ib.—character of the new movement, 367, 369—ideas, emotions and moods, 367—beauty the essence of poetry, 369, 384—character of W. W. Gibson's blank verse, 370, 380—L. Abercrombie, 370–372—W. De la Mare, 372—S. Moore, 374—J. E. Flecker, 376—R. Brooke, 376–379—J. Drinkwater, 379—D. H. Lawrence, 381—J. Masefield and R. Hodgson, 382—W. Davies, 382, 384—G. Bottomley, 383—'Catholic Anthology,' 384—O. Johns, 385—E. Pound, ib.

Pompeius, The Last Days of, 40—J. Masefield's 'The Tragedy of Pompey the Great,' ib.—poem of Lucan, the 'Civil War,' 42—influence of Livy, 42–45—the dream of Pompey, 45—result of the battle of Pharsalia, 46—his flight to Amphipolis, 47—meeting with his wife, 48—voyage to Phaselis, 49—proposed alliance with Parthia, 50—sets sail for Egypt, 51—anchors off Pelusium, 52—manner of his death, 53–56—burning of his body, 57—removal of his remains, 59.

Ponsonby, Arthur, 'Democracy and Diplomacy,' extract from, 478.

Porritt, Edward, 'Congress and the War,' 196.

Postgate, Prof. J. P., 'The Last Days of Pompeius,' 40.

Pound, Ezra, character of his poetry, 385.

Pratt, F. Lionel, 'Four Years of the Chinese Republic,' 152.

Prothero, Dr, on the neglect in the teaching of contemporary history, 486.

R.

Railway Companies, favourable rates on the carriage of foreign produce, 148–150.

'Reclamation of Waste Land,' 146.

Redmond, J., M.P., on the loyalty of the Nationalists, 244, 248—review of his volunteers, 250.

Rohrbach, Dr Paul, 'Die Bagdadbahn,' extract from, 411, 428.

Rumania, German Penetration in, 387—decline of Turkish domination, 388—influence of French civilisation, 388, 408—policy of Germany, 390—administration of Prince Carol, 391—organisation of the army, ib.—construction of railways, 392, 394—import of English goods, 393—financial help from Germany, 394-398—result of a policy of extravagant construction, 395—amount of the debt, 396—number of banks, 397—torpidity of British traders, 398—imports from Germany, 399—establishment of industries, 400—oil-industry, 401-404—shipping, 404—work of German diplomatists, 405—invasion of workmen, ib.—influence of the schools, 406—the clubs, 407—borrowed vices, ib.—relations with the Germans, 408—the 'Junimea,' 409—development of Deutschtum, ib.

Rumania, intervention in the war, 582—plan of operations, 583. See War.

Russia, military operations in Armenia, 220—Mesopotamia, 230—Volhynia, 240—Bukowina, 242.

S.

Sailors and Soldiers on the Land, 135. See Land.

Saint-Marc Girardin, 'Souvenirs de Voyages et d'études,' extract from, 407.

Schliemann, Dr, result of his excavations at Troy, 1.

Scott, Sir Walter, his introduction to Mrs Hughes, 549, 555—correspondence with her, 555—illness, 561—death, 562—anecdotes of, ib.—Sketch of Abbotsford, 563.

Serbian Empire, The Mediæval, 488—history, 489—territory, 490—name, ib.—three sections, 491—first war with the Bulgarians, ib.—destruction of the Bulgarian Empire by the Byzantine Emperor, 492—emancipation of the Serbs, 493—their characteristics, 494—Stephen Nemanja, the founder of the monarchy, ib.—his title of 'the first-crowned king,' 495—the reigns of Stephen Urosh I, 496—Stephen Urosh II, 497—Stephen Urosh III, 498—Stephen Dushan, ib.—crowned at Skopje, 499—extension of his dominions, 500—his Code of law, ib.—power of the magnates, 501—advantages of a coast line, ib.—collapse of his empire, 502—dispute in the succession, ib.—Stephen Urosh V, 503—battle of Kossovo, 504—Stephen Lazarevich 'Despot,' 505—George Brankovich, 506.

Sifton, Sir Clifford, on Imperial policy, 275.

Singer, Charles, 'The Early Treatment of Gunshot Wounds,' 452.

Small-holding system, policy of extending, 136. See Land.

Soldiers and Sailors on the Land, 135. See Land.

Somme, battle of the, 243.

Spithead, naval reviews at, sound of the guns, 217.

Steed, Wickham, 'Hapsburg Monarchy,' extract from, 477.

Szold, Henrietta, 'Recent Jewish Progress in Palestine,' 426 note.

T.

Townshend, General, his surrender of Kut, 232—statement of his views, 233-235—relations with General Nixon, 235.

Trade and Industry, English and German Banking, in Relation to, 532. See Banking.

Trade and Manufactures, British 433. See British.

Trade Unions and Associations of Employers, relations between, 310-313.

Treitschke, The Political Philosophy of, 176—character of his teaching, ib.—translations of his lectures, 177—criticisms of Mr Balfour, ib.—conception of the State and Society, 178-180, 193—two characteristics, 181—the Roman Empire, ib.—Judea, 182—ancient Greece, ib.—Italy under Machiavelli, 183—essence of the State is Power, 183, 191-193—inversion of the moral law of love, 184—influence of culture, 185—doctrine of a 'general craving,' 186—provincialism, 187—achievement of unity by force, ib.—antipathy to Prussia, 188—appointed Professor of History in the University of Berlin, ib.—acceptance by Germany of the first half of his doctrine, 189—definition of the term patriotism, 191—character of his logic, 193—moral World-State, ib.

Trojan War, The, 1—excavations of Dr Schliemann, ib.—Dr Dörpfeld, 2—Sir A. Evans, ib.—basis of the theme of the Iliad in history, 3—features of the landscape, 4-6—ruins of the fortress, 6—the Scæan Gate, 6-8—worship of Athene, 8—geography of the Troad, 10-13—necessity of Euxine trade to Greece, 11, 19—the Achæans, 13—identification of Ithaca with Leucas, 15—test of probability, 16—compared with the cycle of Merovingian poetry, 17—the Troes, ib.—the Dardanians, 18—Greek names of rulers, ib.—the Attic Poseidon, 19.

U.

United States, industrial operations, 434—organisation, 445.

V.

Verdun, battle of, 236, 243.

Vesale, André, 'De humani corporis fabrica,' 460.

Victoria, Queen, sound of the guns at her funeral, 218, 224—her relations with Lord Beaconsfield, 527.

Vigo, Giovanni de, 'Practica in arte chirurgia copiosa,' 457—treatment of gunshot wounds, 458.

Voelcher, Dr J. A., 'Report on the Improvement of Indian Agriculture,' 348.

W.

Walpole, Stephen, 'History of England from 1815 to 1880,' 481.

War, The, and Congress, 196. See Congress.

War, The Course of the, on Land, 228—result of the Military Service Act, 229—Russo-Turkish campaign in Armenia, ib.—operations in Mesopotamia, 230, 235—surrender of Kut, 231-235—Arab rising in the Yemen, 235—military operations on the Western front, 236-239—on the Austro-Italian frontier, 239—Russian plan of operations in Volhynia, 240-242—in the Bukowina, 242—battle of the Somme, 243.

War, The Course of the, 565—result of the closer accord between the Allies, ib.—attacks at Verdun, 566—operations on the Somme, 566-573—improvement in tactical methods, 573—need to destroy the military spirit of the hostile nation, 574—rapidity of the Allies' progress, ib. — weakening of the enemy forces, 575—exhaustion of the trained reserves, ib.—operations on the Eastern front, 576-580—the Italian frontier, 580—intervention of Rumania, 582—plan of operations, 583—hostile reinforcements into Transylvania, 584-586—invasion of the Dobrudja, 586-588—operations at Salonika, 588.

War, The Trojan, 1. See Trojan.

Waugh, Arthur, 'The New Poetry,' 365.

Wilhelmshaven naval base, 92, 318.

Wilkinson, W., 'An Account of the Principalities of Wallachia and Moldavia,' extract from, 389, 393.

Willyams, Mrs Brydges, her friendship with Lord Beaconsfield, 525.

Wilson, President, his neutrality proclamation, 196—explanation of his policy, 210-212.

Wind, anomalies in the transmission of sound by the, 219—an important factor, 222—variations in the velocity, 223-225.

Wirtz, Felix, his treatment of gunshot wounds, 466.

Wise, B. R., 'The Making of the Australian Commonwealth,' 274 note.

Wordsworth, A New Life of, 116—works on, 116, 120—style of G. M. Harper's Life, 117 et seq.—revision of his poem 'The Prelude,' 118—allusions to angels, 119—sonnet 'Retirement,' ib.—letters from France, 120—convictions on the essential qualities of the human spirit, 121—political views, 122—views on the French Revolution, 123—prose writings, ib.—sympathy with the poor, 124—'The Happy Warrior,' 125, 133—struggle of his feelings between 1793–1795..126–129—sonnet 'Fair Star of Evening,' 128—character of his patriotic poetry, 129–131—pamphlet on the Convention of Cintra, 131, 133—views on perseverance and hope in the war, 132, 133.

Worsfold, W. Basil, 'The Empire on the Anvil,' 266 et seq.

Y.

Yuan Shih-kai, organiser of the Provisional Republican Government, 157—elected President, 158, 161—measures, 160. See Chinese.

Z.

'Zionism and the Jewish Future,' 426 note.

END OF THE TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SIXTH VOLUME.

PRINTED BY WILLIAM CLOWES AND SONS, LIMITED,
LONDON AND BECCLES, ENGLAND.